

From Marches to Movements: Foundations of Social Change

Drawing on the richness of Queens' dynamic faculty and community leaders who have a depth of knowledge and experience in the work of social justice, social change, and organizing, the Stan Greenspon Center will offer our third annual Fall Advocacy Education Program. This year's program will provide the community with the tools that are needed to move from marches to movements in order to create sustainable social change. Throughout the year, we will maintain our connections as a network while we advocate for change. For more information, contact Donna Tarney, tarneyd@queens.edu. To register: <https://connect.queens.edu/attend/FromMarchestoMovements>

Session One**

The Two Souths of '68: Remembering Revolution in these Hard Times
Saturday, September 15, 6:30–8:00 pm
Opening reception, 5:45 pm
Ketner Auditorium, Queens University

Session Two

Foundations of Social Justice
Monday, October 8, 6:30-8:00 pm
Belk Chapel, Queens University

Session Three

The Political Process
Monday, October 15, 6:30- 8:00 pm
Belk Chapel, Queens University

Session Four

The Role of Law in Social Change
Monday, October 22, 6:30-8:00 pm
Ketner Auditorium, Queens University

Session Five

Community Organizing
Monday, October 29, 2018, 6:30-8:00 pm
Ketner Auditorium, Queens University

Session Six

The Rhetorical Strategies of Social Movements
Monday, November 5, 6:30-8:00 pm
Ketner Auditorium, Queens University

Session Seven

Digital Communications and Social Change
Monday, November 12, 6:30-8:00 pm
Ketner Auditorium, Queens University

Session Eight

Moving Forward
Monday, November 19, 6:30-8:00 pm
Ketner Auditorium, Queens University

With appreciation to David Cohen for his support of this series

There is a $25 suggested registration fee for the series. Students are free.

** This talk is part of the Preyer Lecture Series and is open and free for the public.