

The Stan Greenspon Center for Peace and Social Justice
At Queens University of Charlotte
Fourth Annual Advocacy Education Program

Call to Action: Criminal Justice Education Series

Join us for a three-week educational and advocacy series that will bring together a diverse group of local and national leaders seeking major changes in the criminal justice system. The program will tackle two major issues of our time with the goal of educating, infuriating, inspiring, and hopefully enlisting people from our community in joining the fight to level the playing field by ensuring racial equality. The series will culminate with the highly anticipated visit to Queens University by Michelle Alexander, the critically acclaimed author of The New Jim Crow: Mass Incarceration in the Age of Colorblindness.

Sessions are held TUESDAYS from 6:45-8:45pm
In Ketner Auditorium, Sykes Learning Center

Tuesday, October 29: Documentary Film: *Life after Life
Directed by Tamara Perkins
Followed by Panel Discussion

Tuesday, November 5: Staged Reading of Original Play: *Death of Justice
By Rev. Dr. Willie J. Keaton Jr., Greenspon Center
Justice Organizer and Pastor of Mount Olive Presbyterian Church

Tuesday, November 12: Challenges and Legal Barriers of Reentry from Jail and/or Prison
With Panel of Leaders in Law Enforcement
Including Sheriff Garry McFadden

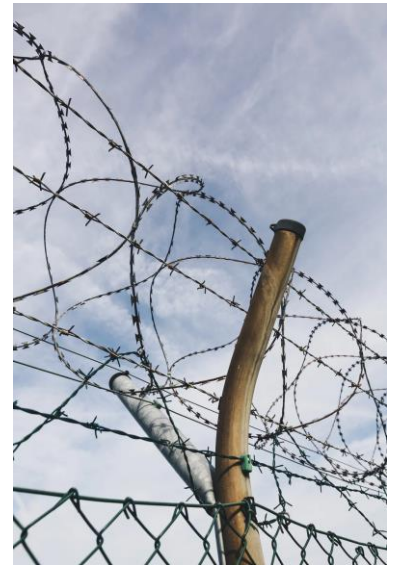

Photo by Markus Spiske on Unsplash

There is a $25 suggested registration fee for the series. Students are free. Registration for the Learning Society Program with Michelle Alexander is separate.

Throughout the year, we will maintain our connections as a network as we advocate for change. For more information, contact Donna Tarney, tarneyd@queens.edu. Click here to register.

A special thanks to our co-sponsors...

The Wells Fargo Center for Community Engagement at Queens University of Charlotte • Diversity, Inclusion, and Community Engagement at Queens University • More to come

QUEENS
UNIVERSITY OF CHARLOTTE

Stan Greenspon Center for Peace and Social Justice